

FAQ's

- Where can I leave comments?
- Will my details be given to anyone?
- How can I submit any material to be published on the website?
- What do stars mean on the pages?
- How can I get the membership
- What is a Blog?
- What do the words on left side column mean on Blog page?
- What is Comments Feed?
- What is RSS Feed?

Where can I leave comments?

Good question! General comments about site can be left here.

Will my details be given to anyone?

No. All data will be strictly confidential & no details will be disclosed without your prior permission.

How can I submit any material to be published on the website?

To publish your written material send a mail here to moderator.

What do stars mean on the pages?

They represent ratings. You can rate any page that has stars on top of it by clicking on stars. If you want to give 4 stars to any page simply click on the fourth star & they will turn red. Under the stars you will find how many people have rated this page. If you think this page was helpful rate this as well by selecting 1-5 stars.

How can I get the membership

You can enter your details here.

What is a Blog?

Blog is a shortened form of weblog. Here you will find different topics & events are added on different dates.

What do the words on left side column mean on Blog page?

The words on top are Categories and the words bellow them are Tags. Tags are in alphabetical order for easy searching. The tag with bigger font means that there are more entries of this tag & by clicking on the tag it will open all entries containing that tag.

What is Comments Feed?

By clicking this you can search & find latest comments given on the site by title, date, today, yesterday, this month or last month.

What is RSS Feed?

By clicking RSS feed you can search & check when each entry was made.
